

Reflection

Hey Violet

Wake up and taking a look in the mirror, I say
"Just another day"
I don't even recognize that blank look on my face
Every day's the same
Have you been plagued by the thought of just running away? Yeah
But I know that even if I did, my feelings won't change

And it's so strange how all
The things I used to love
Just make me feel so numb now (Feel so numb now)

My thoughts at constant war
I'm laying on the floor
I fight until I'm worn down

Oh, my reflection
Don't even know her name, it's so depressing
I'm just wishing for some kind of connection
Can't catch my breath when I'm running from all my decisions
Can I disappear instead?

Feel like I'm looking into my life from the outside
And I don't know why
Can't even tell myself that everything is alright
No, I can't disguise

The way I feel
Cause it's become so real
There's nowhere for me to hide (For me to hide)

Don't want to be stuck here
Face to face with my fears
I'm still trapped behind these eyes

Oh, my reflection
Don't even know her name, it's so depressing
I'm just wishing for some kind of connection
Can't catch my breath when I'm running from all my decisions
Can I disappear instead?

Can I disappear?
Run away from here
Can I disappear?
Run away from here

Oh, my reflection
Don't even know her name, it's so depressing
I'm just wishing for some kind of connection
Can't catch my breath when I'm running from all my decisions
Can I disappear instead?