Hi-Rez

Ho, I'm from the '90s, I don't do the nae nae
Bitch I'm on the lo mein, my girl she work at PayWay
I promise you not every white person in love with mayonnaise
Okay I lied, every white person in love with mayonnaise
Born in the Bronx, family from Harlem
Then I moved to Florida, shit I hate the Marlins
Grew up watchin' Fresh Prince, I can do the Carlton
I hustle for my Family Guy: Seth MacFarlane
At times I do drugs, I don't tell my mama
My mama listen to my music, this gon' start some drama
Act cool cause I'm a rapper, people say I gotta
I'd lose my cred if they knew I wore Pikachu pyjamas

Shit I don't go to raves, I don't wana have a seizure
I'de rather sit at home while I watch The Angry Beavers
I'm sick of all these iPhones, I'd rather have a beeper
I don't rock Jordans, I want Grant Hill Fila's
John Cena cool, but Eddie Guerrero cooler
I still wanna go fuck Sloane from Ferris Bueller
Or maybe Topanga, I still can't decide
I'ma cop a DeLorean and just go back in time
It go Bob Saget, Danny Tanner, Mary-Kate and Ashley
Skinny jeans weren't a thing, we wore em baggy
Way before Bieber was on commercials for acne
Way before Drake was even up on Degraasi

I still play Nintendo 64 over Xbox
Everything was cool when Booker T had dreadlocks
I grew up bumpin' Cypress Hill and KRS-One
Now a day most these rappers just ain't gettin it done
Playin' hockey in the street bare-feet with my brothers
Thank God they taught me the importance of wearin' a rubber
Rest in peace Robin Williams, I used to love Flubber
Back in '99 when Marcus Camby beat the buzzer
Everything was easy everything was cool
Will Smith was a Prince, Tim Allen was a tool
You could ask my mom, I was happy as fuck
When Michael Jordan beat the aliens with Daffy and Bugs
