A noisily breaking glass bottle,
Is that how we are?
The sky seems so low,
It seems like it'll collapse at any time
You used to ask why I came so late,
That you waited for me, happy for my love
But now you're frozen,
Colder than a stranger you run into by chance

Your bright smile (bright smile)
Your warm embrace (your face)
It feels like I can't see it or touch it now,
It scares me

Right now,
We're like the clock hands at 12:30
Our backs turned against each other, looking at different places,
About to throw everything away
Right now, we're like the clock hands at 12:30
We're walking to a place
That we can never return from

Time used to follow us but now it has stopped
Instead of an "us" it's just "you" and "me"
Rather than saying every little thing passed by
It feels like I've lost it instead,
Your hands used to be so warm
I already know you were being shaken
So I held onto you tighter
I held you, I trapped you,
Because my love became more venomous
Yeah I know it's all my fault but
I couldn't let go
Of the feelings, the hope

Your bright smile (bright smile)
Your warm embrace (your face)
It feels like I can't see it or touch it now,
It scares me

Right now,
We're like the clock hands at 12:30
Our backs turned against each other, looking at different places,
About to throw everything away
Right now, we're like the clock hands at 12:30
We're walking to a place
That we can never return from

When our break up starts to kneel before me
Then I believe time will follow us once again,
I believe that time will come
I'm letting you go right now,
I'm letting you go and everything has stopped
But I believe the broken clock
Will move once again

Right now,
We're like the clock hands at 12:30
Our backs turned against each other, looking at different places,
About to throw everything away
Right now, we're like the clock hands at 12:30
We're walking to a place
That we can never return from
