

We Don't Talk

Hilary Duff

I'm not sure when it happened
Not even sure what it was about
If I did something different
Would you feel something different?
Would you at least let me hear you out?

'Cause we come from the same home, the same blood
A different combination but the same lock
People ask me how you're doing
I wanna say amazing
But the truth is that I don't know
What I always end up saying is how

We don't talk
We don't talk
Talk about it
We don't talk about anything anymore
We don't talk
We don't talk
Talk about it
We don't talk about anything anymore
We don't talk, we don't talk
We don't talk, we don't talk

Emotional eviction
No more sentimental overlap
And if it's 'cause you're jealous
God knows I would sell it all
Then break you off the bigger half

'Cause we come from the same home, the same blood
A different explanation of the same thought
People ask me if I've seen you
And honestly I hate it
'Cause the truth is that I need to
But there's no way to relay it
Now if

We don't talk
We don't talk
Talk about it
We don't talk about anything anymore
We don't talk
We don't talk
Talk about it
We don't talk about anything anymore

Let's have it out
I'll hear you out
You hear me out
On the couch
Get back to how we were as kids
Break it down
So sick of being
So sad about
How we don't talk
And you won't talk about it

We don't talk
We don't talk
Talk about it
We don't talk about anything anymore
We don't talk
We don't talk (Don't talk about it)
Talk about it
We don't talk about anything anymore

We don't talk, oh, we don't, we don't talk
We don't talk, oh, we don't, we don't talk
