Halo

Hinder

Halo, halo
Halo, halo

Got your nose up, always looking down
Thinking you're divine in your halo
Cast another stone, ignorant and proud
Thinking you're divine in your halo

You won't leave it alone, why can't you let it go
Thinking everything's about you

Your halo is slipping and your castle's coming down
With consequences raining from your lies you're gonna drown
Hatred is contagious, different isn't dangerous and silence can be so loud
Someday you're gonna look around and find your halo on the ground

Halo, halo

Blindly spread a lie to justify the grudge
And hide it all behind your halo
Acting out of spite because you're out of touch
And hiding it behind your halo

You won't leave it alone, why can't you let it go
Thinking everything's about you

Your halo is slipping and your castle's coming down
With consequences raining from your lies you're gonna drown
Hatred is contagious, different isn't dangerous and silence can be so loud
Someday you're gonna look around and find your halo on the ground

Your halo is slipping and your castle's coming down
With consequences raining from your lies you're gonna drown
Hatred is contagious, different isn't dangerous and silence can be so loud
Someday you're gonna look around and find your halo on the ground

Halo, halo
Halo, halo
