

Long Gone

Hinder

How'd we fall into this place, always going at each other
We just needed an escape from the stress that we've been under
And now we're dying to be close but we're only getting farther
And we're losing all control and it's only getting harder

I got nothing to show for the days and the nights
Making up when we should be saying goodbye

We tore down our paradise
We swore it'd be there for life
But it's long gone
We both went to battle but nobody won
We tore down our paradise
We swore it'd be there for life
But it's long gone
Can't pick up the pieces, the damage is done

Always weathering a storm, never finding any cover
I can't keep up this back and forth, when will one of us surrender
I wanna go back to the times when we lived for one another (But I)
I got this feeling in my bones, that it's already over, over

(Because we) Tore down our paradise
We swore it'd be there for life
But it's long gone
We both went to battle but nobody won
We tore down our paradise
We swore it'd be there for life
But it's long gone
Can't pick up the pieces, the damage is done

(Whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa)
(Whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa)

Got nothing to show for the days and the nights
Making up when we should be saying goodbye

We tore down our paradise
We swore it'd be there for life
But it's long gone
We both went to battle but nobody won
We tore down our paradise
We swore it'd be there for life
But it's long gone
Can't pick up the pieces, the damage is done

(Whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa)
Can't pick up the pieces
When the damage is done
(Whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa)
The damage is done
Can't pick up the pieces the damage is done
