

Rearview

Hinder

(Now it's all in the rearview)

Wait, stop
Caught up at a red light, thought the girl beside me was you
A red headed looker, with her hair pulled back
And her car was the same shade of blue

But now it's too late, too late
I've opened up the flood gates, flood gates
Now the memories won't stop, and it's only 12 o'clock
And I can't stop seeing your face

And there we were, singing out the chorus playing loud on the radio
Cutting eyes over at you
Lost in a moment, getting high on each other
You were making eyes back at me too
Well cut to us in the backseat
Fogging up the windows like fools
Oh, that was me and you
Now it's all in the rearview
That was me and you
Now it's all in the rearview

Heart stops
We had to take a beat of something happened and we both got caught
Head shake and now I can't remember
Why the hell it was we ever even fought

But now it's too late, too late
I've opened up the flood gates, flood gates
And now the memories won't stop, and it's only 12 o'clock
And I can't stop seeing your face

And there we were, singing out the chorus playing loud on the radio
Cutting eyes over at you
Lost in a moment, getting high on each other
You were making eyes back at me too
Well cut to us in the backseat
Fogging up the windows like fools
Oh, that was me and you
Now it's all in the rearview
That was me and you
Now it's all in the rearview

I wanna get back into you
Bring it back into view
Back into you
Bring it back into view
I wanna get back into you
Bring it back into view

And there we were, singing out the chorus playing loud on the radio
Cutting eyes over at you
Lost in a moment, getting high on each other
You were making eyes back at me too
Well cut to us in the backseat
Fogging up the windows like fools

Oh, that was me and you
Now it's all in the rearview
That was me and you
Now it's all in the rearview