

Life On The Islands

Hippie Sabotage

It's 6 o'clock in the morning and I just woke up
I take a look out my window, watch the sun come up
I drink a coffee, listen to songs, then I go work out
Then I jump into the ocean to go cool myself down
Take a shower, thankful for another beautiful day
See, this life on the islands is a beautiful thing
Helps me free my mind from stress and let go of the pain
See, nothing matters now unless it's right in front of my face

I'm done with denying
This isn't how I want
To go live for the rest
Of my whole fucking life
So baby I'm out here
If you want to come then
I'll be here forever
Right exactly where I am

I've done so much already and it's still only 12
Might go walk into a river, hike into a jungle
Find a waterfall to swim, whole place to myself
When taking in nature's beauty, only that is what helps
To go and get me out my mind and to slow myself down
I feel so different when I go remove what surrounds
Me when I am home inside the belly of the beast
So fuck that, I'm done living where I don't want to be

I'm done with denying
This isn't how I want
To go live for the rest
Of my whole fucking life
So baby I'm out here
If you want to come then
I'll be here forever
Right exactly where I am

I'm back at the house about 5 beats in
Each one gets better every time I swim
Sunset with the turtles, smoking blunts in the sand
Not a care in the world, letting life happen
Now day becomes dusk, watching the moon rise
Listening as the night, starts to come alive
I could do it all tomorrow and I'd feel fine
Ain't a god damn thing gonna change my mind

I'm done with denying
This isn't how I want
To go live for the rest
Of my whole fucking life
So baby I'm out here
If you want to come then
I'll be here forever
