

I look to you
Like a moth to candlelight
You're all that occupies my mind
I'll find you soon
Somewhere at the bottom
I have nowhere left to crawl

Do something, I'm fading
Hold me close and let this be my tomb
Say something, I'm losing
Hope that we can ever move on through

Like gravity, it's pulling me
Your remedies are lost on me
And I can't see the light at the end of the tunnel
(The end of the tunnel)

I'm bruised and blue
Every time I sleep at night
I feel the daisies hold my eyes
What can I do?
It's hard to run away from all the problems inside you

Do something, I'm fading
Tie the noose and drain me like a wound
Say something, I'm losing
Hope that we can ever move on through

Gravity is pulling me
Your remedies are lost on me
And I can't see the light at the end of the tunnel

I've got clouds, you've got halos
Shut my eyes. Where do the days go?
So tired from making the climb that I can't enjoy the view
I'm begging you

Do something, say something
I'm fading, I'm losing
The one thing I can't afford to lose

Like gravity, it's pulling me
Your remedies are lost on me
And I can't see the light at the end of the tunnel
(The end of the tunnel)
