Someone Else's Eyes

If you're going now There's nothin' more to say So don't turn around Unless you mean to stay 'Cause we've been through this So many times before It doesn't make it anymore

There never seemed to be A time for explanations Everything just seems To move so quickly now But if I never seem To reach your expectations I'll make it up to you, somehow

Don't say goodbye Don't search for what You'll never find In someone else's eyes Don't say goodbye The answer that you want Will never lie In someone else's eyes In someone else's eyes

After all this time I thought you knew me better Never believed that I Would ever see you go

Don't say goodbye Don't search for what You'll never find In someone else's eyes Don't say goodbye The answer that you want Will never lie In someone else's eyes In someone else's eyes

In someone else's eyes
