

From The Second Floor

Hollow Coves

He tried to see the light
Limbs failed when he fell down from the couch
With fear in his eyes
He tried to talk but the words wouldn't come out

Seemed like he lost his mind
Felt helpless as he rolled around the floor
Sent shivers down my spine
What has he done? Will his mind ever come back?

But everyday people try to numb all their pain
Or they say it's just fun and games, living while they're young
And every time all they do is mess with their mind
Think about the rest of your life, you only get one

Then suddenly outside
He jumped headfirst from the second floor
Sent shivers down my spine
What has he done? Has his time really run out?

But everyday people try to numb all their pain
Or they say it's just fun and games, living while they're young
And every time all they do is mess with their mind
Think about the rest of your life, you only get one

There's so much more that you can live for
So much life to explore, just don't give up
There's so much more that you can live for
So much life to explore, just don't give up

But everyday people try to numb all their pain
Or they say it's just fun and games, living while they're young
And every time all they do is mess with their mind
Think about the rest of your life, you only get one
