

Apparition

Hollow Front

I made a pact with the devil in my head
Sold my soul to him
So I could never feel pain again
You have no idea the toll it takes
When you're trapped inside your mind
And you've lost yourself to hate

(Apparition)

I'd trade my soul for a heart made of stone
(Apparition)

The saddest story that's ever been told

I've seen the world through your eyes
I watched those motherfuckers burn
The kind of violence that keeps me alive
I've seen the end and it's justified
(Justified)

We reap what we've sown
And now it's our time to die

Burn it down
Burn it to the ground
To the motherfucking ground

Just look up to the sky
We're in a living hell
There are flames a thousand feet high
Engulfing everything
Everything that was beautiful
Creating in its wake
A foreign land of ash and decay

(Apparition)

I'd trade my soul for a heart made of stone
(Apparition)

The saddest story that's ever been told

I've seen the world through your eyes
I watched those motherfuckers burn
The kind of violence that keeps me alive
I've seen the end and it's justified
(Justified)

We reap what we've sown

And now it's our time to die

One by one
The pieces will fall
One error too many
And it's killing us all

I've seen the world through your eyes
I watched those motherfuckers burn
The kind of violence that keeps me alive
I've seen the end and it's justified
(Justified)

We reap what we've sown

And now it's our time to die

I sold my soul for a heart made of stone
The saddest story that's ever been told