

Falling Apart

Hollow Front

We're all living on a clock
And the time is ticking away
And I think more of us should be afraid
Afraid of what that truly means
Do we want to remain victims?
Held down by an unjust system?
Or do we try to rally behind
Something with real purpose and meaning?

It's just like a heart attack
With no chance of coming back
All hope has been left in the dark
Just look around us; we're swimming with sharks
And while our world is crashing down
No solutions can be found
We're falling, we're falling
Falling apart

Just be careful of the world
'Cause it'll chew you up and it'll spit you out
It's succumbed to self-invested greed
And do you think they give a fuck about you and me?
Sitting up in their ivory towers
Looking down on us with their crooked smiles
Engorging themselves on the pain of the ones
Who are easy to please and too weak to fight back
I've lost all faith in humanity

It's just like a heart attack
With no chance of coming back
All hope has been left in the dark
Just look around us; we're swimming with sharks
And while our world is crashing down
No solutions can be found
We're falling, we're falling
We're falling apart

Can we be forgiven
For the sins that we've committed?
'Cause there's always a price that must be paid
To stay alive in this hell we've made
(It's just like a heart attack)
(With no chance of coming back)

It's just like a heart attack
With no chance of coming back
All hope has been left in the dark
Just look around us; we're swimming with sharks
And while our world is crashing down
No solutions can be found
We're falling, we're falling
Falling apart
We're falling, we're falling
We're falling, we're falling
