Remember This

Summer night, on the pier
He's watching her, watch that sun disappear
First thing tomorrow he knows she's out of here
There's a million ways this night could go
Should he pull away or pull her close
Is she waiting on him? There's only one way to know

Memories are made up of moments like this
The choices we make and the chances we miss
One day the memories are all that there is
So how do you wanna remember this?

Another weekend at the office, he's tryna get away
The boss man says, "son you're gonna have to stay,
There's deadlines to meet, and bills to pay"
The kids are fighting to stay awake
They're waiting on dad to cut that cake
Did he make another promise, he might have to break?

Memories are made up of moments like this
The choices we make and the chances we miss
One day the memories are all that there is
So how do you wanna remember this?

Some people look back and all they're left with
Are could haves, and should haves, and what ifs

Memories are made up of moments like this
The choices we make and the chances we miss
One day the memories are all that there is

Memories are made up of moments like this (moments like this)
The choices we make and the chances we miss (chances we miss)
One day the memories are all that there is
So how do you wanna remember this?

How do you wanna remember, wanna remember
Wanna remember this
