

Don't Make Me Want You

Honeymoon Suite

Pictures of yesterday cover the walls
And in my mind I remember them all
Promises made that can never fade
Promises broken
You should never have spoken
Every turn's a weight
Don't want it now, don't need it now
I've got to turn my head around

Cause these smilin' faces
In my mind of all places
Make me want you more
But you smile to please
Well it ain't real
Don't make me want you anymore

This room that surrounds me
Is a pale shade of grey
It's like leavin' society
Had enough of today
The feelin' never dies
You just want it to end
Never needed to be here, now or then
I can only wait for that unclouded mind
Where are they now and do they know
I was so close to letting go
