Tears on the Page

Honeymoon Suite

I got your letter
Stated your point of view
I tried to call all night
Still I couldn't get through
I thought we had a love, that could never fall
I should have seen it coming, the writing on the wall

Too blind to see, through the tears on the page
She says I still love you, and that will never change

Caught you on the rebound
A lonely heart on the mend
And when you found your strength
I was only a means to an end
We could have made it, we could have had it all
Now everywhere you go, you'll see my shadow on the wall

I was too blind to see, through the tears on the page
She says I still love you, and that will never change

(GUITAR SOLO)

Love's never guaranteed, some give, some take
Questions of the heart, are the first mistake

Too blind to see, through the tears on the page
She says I still love you, and that will never change

Too blind to see, through the tears on the page
She says I still love you, and that will never change
