

You Hurt Me (But I've Got So Much More To Give)

Hooverphonic

I must have been blind adoring the blues
In everything lies a small kind of truth
But than again,
Just when I thought you were staying for good
You left for no reason is that all you could
You`re still a man

It`s not what I want
It`s not what I need
Nothing but lies and way too much heat
Just when I thought you were telling the truth
I caught you with here oh you fool

You hurt me when I`ve got so much more to give

We live in denial adoring what's new
In everything lies a small kind of blues
But than again,
Just when I thought you were leaving for good
You stayed for no reason although we were through
You`re still a man

It`s not what I want
It`s not what I need
Nothing but lies and way too much heat
Just when I thought you were telling the truth
I caught you with here oh you fool

You hurt me when I`ve got so much more to give
