

Rx Contender The Pretender

Hopesfall

We think they got how they wanted to feel then discovered five minutes til wedlock, all the mirrors were cracked the suns setting
bring out the rum
we heard that brownnosing bridesmaid she said that someone's second guessing so bring out the rum this love is a reaction to indifference angels pass this over like some biblical fall out in sensing something socially mechanical who's playing angles when sometimes things are held too clinical bullshitters, they (we) say there's two type of men that chase their lovers

the one who cries and the one who's too stubborn we think we're getting how we want to feel and in no way will it suffer we're still drinking

so bring out the rum
they're going to show us a good time with or without a ceremony
bring out the rum!
some love is a devotion ot indifference we're verified by a number you're talking to failure we buccaneered our mild manners just to be here what you don't believe or see now you will know later i idolize this man that you will know later we got a ways to go before we idolize this man i think we should go because i'm sensing something.....