

The End Of An Era

Hopesfall

My searching eyes have never been so intrigued to see you go
I guess you found a way to make ten minutes last forever
With each passing moment we drift further away
Closer to our chosen paths
But I can't help remembering what was
What might have been
But I have been warned by those who have passed this way before
And to them I am grateful
And as for you, I am also grateful
And I pray you find the peace
You've been longing for