

Hideaway

Horrorshow

I just need to hide away
I just need to hide away
Take time out to hibernate
Any time of the night and day
I just need to hide away
(From the world outside)
In my hideaway
(Deep sigh, let it pass me by)
Take time out to hibernate
(So don't ask me why)
Any time of the night 'n'day

Sometimes when it's all too much for me
When life pulls the rug from under me
I try to unwind, roll up some weed
Let it wash over me, yeah
Sunshine on the waterfront in Glebe
Right now I'm my only company
Right here I got nowhere else to be
No one I wanna see, yeah
I just need some space, please don't take it personal
I'm in a place where I don't have the where withal
Off balance, time to make a withdrawal
Making the call, flight mode, get away from it all

I just need to hide away
I just need to hide away
Take time out to hibernate
Any time of the night and day

I'm feeling trapped in my anxiety
Wonder if you ever lied to me
And it's crazy cos some days
It goes from so bright to so dark
That I feel like I need to hide from me
Hide from the world, all the shit that's been inside of me
Under pressure, told it makes diamonds
I like silver better
Lights get so bright that it gets blinding
Yeah I try get better
Yeah it's a process and I know
I'm fine to fly through weather
And land unknown, and I know

Sometimes I wanna be on my own
Need to be alone where I feel at home
Need to retreat to my comfort zone
Need to recharge when I'm running low

So I just need a hideaway
I need something to call all mine
Know I need somewhere to stay
To lay my head
And come back when it's all fine

I just need to hide away
I just need to hide away

Take time out to hibernate
Any time of the night and day

I just need to hide away
I just need to hide away
Take time out to hibernate
Any time of the night and day

I just wanna hide
I just wanna hide
I just wanna hideaway
I just wanna hide
I just wanna hide
I just wanna hideaway
