

The gates of hell are opening slowly
I love you, that's what you told me
I said it back, and I really meant that I was there when you were sad, like where were your friends at?
You're like a switchblade, you protect me
There's demons everywhere, they wanna possess me
Blood drips as I stand in the club now
I'm near the end, there's no healing my cuts now
Let's go through with this, no regrets now
You took me under, got me catching my breath now
Let's go through with this, no regrets now
You took me under, got me catching my breath now

The gates to heaven are closing fast
I might die tonight, so don't be like that
I retire to the coffin that I call my room
Don't you worry about me, I'll be gone soon
And if I die before the morning or before I wake
I promise you, my soul to take and I'm yours
I don't care anymore about them
They don't know about us, let's pretend
Now we don't feel anything anymore
And I'm yours and you're mine