

Eleanor

Hot Chip

When you're standing there can you really
Just ignore his prayers to be reu-
-nited with that child that has lost its Father standing there, by his side and

When I walk out in the sea
All the waves crash over me
When the world smashes into you
Let it be a central part of you

If you choose to remember me
Hold me gently as you fall asleep
Even if you believe that there's nothing more
I feel heaven knocking at our door

Eleanor - evermore
Eleanor - evermore
Eleanor
Eleanor - evermore

When you're standing there can you really (Eleanor)
Just ignore the call of memory (Eleanor)
To be back in those arms and walk again (Eleanor)
In the moment when you were still friends

Don't you know we're not roving free
We're just a part of ecology
And when the words are escaping me
I try to speak with economy

If you choose to remember me
Hold me gently as you fall asleep
Even if you believe that there's nothing more
I feel heaven knocking at our door

Eleanor - evermore
Eleanor - evermore
Eleanor
Eleanor

You're like a river flowing
That will never stop (Eleanor)
You're like the toughest tree
That withstands the chop (Eleanor)
You're like Andre the Giant
On his way to school (Eleanor)
Beckett gave him a ride
Before there was carpool (Eleanor)
He knew to pick him up
Show him the way to go (Eleanor)
But I bet he learned a thing or two
Riding with Andre in tow

If you choose to remember me
Hold me gently as you fall asleep
Even if you believe that there's nothing more
I feel heaven knocking at our door

Eleanor

I see you forming in my (Eleanor)
Marazion memories
I see you calling in these (Eleanor)
Marazion memories

I see you forming in my
Marazion memories
I see you calling in these
Marazion memories
