Learning to Walk

Hothouse Flowers

we finished what we had, we had created this big rolling ball, tore us apart this is for the record I never meant the pain spitting volcano, waiting to explode that's how it is, that's where we are yes it was good, but it went too far it's hard to let go, when no one can talk two years on, we're learning to walk sometimes when I sleep, if I ever sleep at all I dream of you, standing in the cold most of the time, I'm too tired to talk too scared to reveal, to show you it all
yes it was good, but it went too far
I'm reading a page, cobwebs of rage I'm building a cage for you to embrace forever the fool, forgetting my lines I'm lost in sublime, healing in time that's how it is...
