

Life Won't Wait

Houston Calls

Change; I can't deal with this change.
All these people, they say that it's cause for inspiration.
But I've got this pain so real I see what I've gained
But I feel like I've gotten here by losing so much more.

Life won't wait for me to get back on both my feet
again.
It just likes to sucker me into the new
And then flip the switch on everything I do
'Cause when opportunity knocks you have to let her in

Change; I could just stay the same but what would that prove to you?
I've got this pain so real I see what I've gained
But I feel like I'm setting myself up to lose it all, it all, it all.

Life won't wait for me to get back on both my feet
again.
It just likes to sucker me into the new
And then flip the switch on everything I do
'Cause when opportunity knocks you have to let her in

I've got three striped squares I can't get away from Oh, I've got no four walls to call my own Yea, I've got four controllers and four good friends
We keep it real until our lives all end Whatever was I thinking?
The best times of my life are just beginning

Life won't wait for me to get back on both my feet
again
It just likes to sucker me into the new
And then flip the switch on everything I do

Life won't wait for me to get back on both my feet
again
But it doesn't matter to me anymore Just know that I'm going to get what I came for
'Cause when opportunity knocks you have to let her in When opportunity knocks you have to let her in
