

May You Never Fall in Love

Howe Gelb

May you never fall in love
Let alone be let down
May you never even enter the second time around
May you never consider doing yourself in
Consequences beguiling
May you never even have a begin
Let the others spend all their wily
Contemplating the apropos
While you'll remain there smiling
Like you're in the know

I used to wonder
I been known to dive right in
To the essential blunder of the original sin

May you never consider
Doing yourself in
With consequences so beguiling
May you never even ever begin

Yeah the poets
Would have you believe
It's better to love and have love leave
'Cause they get more work
When it's time for you to grieve
May you never fall in love
Let alone be let down
May you never even enter love's
Second time around
May you never fall in love