

Lie To Me

Hudson Westbrook

Yeah, you'd lay in my bed and paint pictures
Of life that we built down the road
Now everything you wanted is someplace we'll never go
You said you like white gold and diamonds
Told me your size and everything
People on the fence don't say those kinds of things
Did you know it back then, these were things you didn't mean?

For one more night, I'd give anything
Tell me we're alright, just till the morning
Even though I know it was all a dream
Could you just tell one more lie to me?

I'll tell you I still want the blue house
And I just can't quit missing you
I'll hold you close and say it ain't breaking us bending the truth
Even though we know it's over, baby, what I wouldn't do

For one more night, I'd give anything
Tell me we're alright, just till the morning
Even though I know it was all a dream
Could you just tell one more lie to me?

Throwin' more weight on a heavy heart
Throwin' more weight on a heavy heart
Might not be counteractive
No, it won't be counteractive
But I'll take pain of your memory over wonder what it'd be like to have it

For one more night, I'd give anything
Tell me we're alright, just till the morning
Even though I know it was all a dream
Could you just tell one more lie to me?

Could you tell just one more lie to me?
