

Glorious Sunset

Hundred Reasons

I don't think it's ever been this cold outside
And the chill just melts me to nothing every time
It's grown back too many times that I cannot say
But I'd cut it out if it could make the change

And time was never on your side, not ever
I wish that it could have been better spent
And now it's too late to hold you back from
The endless road to your glorious sunset

Now that I've said goodbye and you finally rest
The ten minutes with you before your very last breath
Was just enough for me for the memory
To fade out the four years of endless pain

And time was never on your side, not ever
I wish that it could have been better spent
And now it's too late to hold you back from
The endless road to your glorious sunset

(How I wish we'd found a way)
(How I wish we'd found a way)
(How I wish we'd found a way)
(How I wish we'd found a way to love)

I wish I could beat you for the poison you are
I wish I could beat you for the poison you are
I wish I could beat you for the poison you are
I wish I could beat you for the poison you are

And time was never on your side, not ever
I wish that it could have been better spent
And now it's too late to hold you back from
The endless road to your glorious sunset