

Blur

Hundredth

I think I like where I am
When the lines start to blend
Then chase a high but when it goes
I forget about where it went

I spent a long time away
Trying to make sense
Of the stones we laid
And the broken crusades
That led us all out astray

(Tick-tock)
(Tick-tock)
(Tick-tock)
(Tick-tock)

I had blur it out
Just to feel it again
I had to tear it all down
Just to see where it ends
Had to make amends
To see it in a brand new light

(Make it right)

I had to dull my eyes
To see through the lens
I had to trim it all down
To nothing but stems
Had to blur it all out
Just to feel it again
Again, again, again, again, again

Been holding up a mirror to my soul
You buy the hype, but where's it sold
You're in a rush, nowhere to go
You're falling off, so keep it low

I spent a long time away
Trying to make sense
Of the path we paved
And the broken crusades
That led us all out astray

(Tick-tock)
(Tick-tock)
(Tick-tock)
(Tick-tock)

I had blur it out
Just to feel it again
I had to tear it all down
Just to see where it ends
Had to make amends
To see it in a brand new light

(Make it right)

I had to dull my eyes
To see through the lens
I had to trim it all down
To nothing but stems
Had to blur it all out
Just to feel it again
Again, again, again, again, again

I had to blur it out
To blur it out
To blur it out
To feel it again
To feel it again

Tear it down
To see where it ends
To see where it ends
Just to feel it again

I had blur it out
Just to feel it again
I had to tear it all down
Just to see where it ends
Had to make amends
To see it in a brand new light

(Make it right)

I had to dull my eyes
To see through the lens
I had to trim it all down
To nothing but stems
Had to blur it all out
Just to feel it again
Again, again, again, again, again

I had to blur it out
To blur it out
To blur it out
To feel it again