

Somehow You're Always There

Hunter Metts

I remember August
But you'll be there when it's cold
You loved me my whole life
And you'll love me when I'm old
Losing you on that night
I've never hurt that way before
If you take one thing with you
Just know I'm always yours

It's like watching all the leaves fall
It's like standing in the rain
It's that feeling when the birds fly
It's like coming home again
So I trace her every outline
With my fingers through the air
Some days it's hard to find her
But somehow she's always there

The air was thick
And the world was small
I can't give up on trying
No I can't give up at all
If you're out there listening
Just know you loved me well
No matter what the distance
I know you're with me still

It's like watching all the leaves fall
It's like standing in the rain
It's that feeling when the birds fly
It's like coming home again
So I trace her every outline

With my fingers through the air
Some days it's hard to find her
But somehow she's always there

Now I'm making conversation
With silence in the air
But You'll stay with me forever
Somehow you're always there
