

Telescope Lovers

Hunter Metts

You took my heart on a train to California
I gave you my love like a sail to the wind
But you just keep on moving, guess time waits for no one
I wanted forever, but you never did

Is the sun gonna rise again?
Is the world gonna keep on spinning?
Just begging and choosing, just winning and losing
I'm fighting the lightening, I'm holding the wind

We were halfway to somewhere that we've never been
I guess every road always comes to an end
We were telescope lovers, a medicine show
Like a place in photograph we never go

Is the sun gonna rise again?
Is the world gonna keep on spinning?
Just begging and choosing, just winning and losing
I'm fighting the lightening, I'm holding the wind

You have all of my love
You have all of my love
Don't you know you have all of my heart?
Oh, I want you bad
No, I want you bad
I'm just begging and choosing, just winning and losing
Fighting the lightening, I'm holding the wind
