

Thin

Hunter Metts

We fit inside the paradigms
We color in the number lines
We are everything we thought we'd find
But we're growing thin
All we are is thin

It feels the same as any time
We glow but in a different light
After everything, we'll be alright
But we're growing thin
All we are is thin

So we go and we go and we go undercover
Maybe now that we know that we've outgrown one another

All we are is a flickering creation
In the dark, you were always so florescent
So it go, we don't glow
Oh you should know, oh you should know
All we are is thin

You'll find something to fill this with
I know they'll be there in my place
I think we go our separate ways
'Cause we're growing thin
All we are is thin

So we go and we go and we go undercover
Maybe now that we know that we've outgrown one another

All we are is a flickering creation
In the dark, you were always so florescent
So it go, we don't glow
Oh you should know, oh you should know
All we are

We turn off the lights and we lost who we are
And what if learning you was always the best part
I can barely move but I know what we are
We're just thin
Oh, we're just thin

All we are is a flickering creation
In the dark, you were always so florescent
So it go, we don't glow
Oh you should know, oh you should know
All we are thin
