

Brake This

Hunter Valentine

She's walking on time
She's breaking right through
She's lost in cuff and can't get out to you
Your buying her love
She's empty enough
The joke cold heart could fill her right up.

Not Eaten for days
Who cares what they say
You love is a joke your a walking cliché
When she starts to cry
And you don't know why
Because your apart of her little lie

Your breaking my heart this time
You breaking my heart this time

And When she get quiet
She'll tell you she's fine
But she doesn't want you to know that she's mine
And when your inside look her in the eye you'll see the saddness of our last good bye

She calls me a liar
We know who your with
She's crying about how you make her feel bad
And she can't run from this, but she can hide
She's falling to pieces

Your breaking my heart this time
You breaking my heart this time
Your breaking my heart this time
You breaking my heart this time
