

When You Fall

Hunters & Collectors

All your nervous daydreams
Are longing to be told
The heart that clutched
The love that touched
The darkness in your soul
She's someone but she's no-one
The one you truly know
On sheets she made you twice betrayed
The one you can't let go
Now the scene is set you can't forget
Her crying through the wall
Now who's going to catch you when you fall?

Cold-blooded lovers come
To keep you from the cold
The ones you seek so pleased to meet you
Let the truth unfold
The secrecy that leads you
The moments that you stole
All the strangest circumstances
Beyond your control
But you beg to creep on drunken feet
As you stumble down the hall
So who's gonna catch you?

Who's gonna catch you?
Who's gonna catch you when you fall?

When you fly on melting wings
When you take a dive who hold the strings?

There's no escaping the one who holds the line
And though you try you're captured by
The web of your design
And through the maze of lonely days
You can still hear her call
So who's gonna catch you?

Who's gonna catch you?
Who's gonna catch you when you fall?

Who's gonna catch you?
Who's gonna catch you?
Who's gonna catch you when you fall?