

Liar

Hurricane

You waistin' my time
And I ain't got time
Now the tables have turned

I'm hearing screaming in ma' mind
I'm so scared of your kind
How do you find me every time?
Shouldn't have monitored you from behind
Your front is strong, and your suit is shine
But your side is dark and you're weak in the mind
Your actions are cause of the light you seek
You stand above us? Standing under me

You liar
You're pants are on fire
And so is everything else, every-everything else
Everything else, every-everything else
You liar
You're pants are on fire
And so is everything else, every-everything else
Everything else, every-everything else

I'm not no side chick, I am That Chick
The line was simple and you've crossed it
I will not tolerate it no more
No, I won't tolerate it no more
Never again, never again
I can't keep going the same direction
You keep on lying, my eyes are crying
I can't keep falling, my heart is gutted now

You liar
You're pants are on fire
And so is everything else, every-everything else
Everything else, every-everything else
You liar
You're pants are on fire
And so is everything else, every-everything else
Everything else, every-everything else