

Break the Silence

Hydria

The rising day cries hate from the world
People fighting against their will and their beliefs (to hide the agony of acceptance)

Each day your heart gets colder Your thirst for justice feeds your ache Search for a better way to break the silence

Sunset reminds the lost pleasure you once relied upon yourself to retrieve and change your new reality

chorus
heal your sores and chain your madness There's a better way to live Deep inside you'll find salvation and for a while you'll taste your freedom

Save yourself from the silence that feeds the violence
The same old faith will save you now if you fight for your free will

chorus

Knowledge Grows in the silence of those who know how to hear the voice of time telling it's own history
