It's Been A Long Time

Hyper Crush

What's you name I said man?
Holly
Listen, Holly, you, uh, I don't know, want to take a walk with me?
What for?
Aw, I got some stuff to say. Guess I'm kind of lucky that way.
Most people don't have anything on their minds, do they?

Girl repeat what I said? I don't creep everyday.
Well maybe on the weekends, but I keep it the same.
Babe, I love you to death, and it's not just for sex.
Well, maybe it is, but that's not what I meant.
I mean I couldn't live without you, well, maybe I could,
I mean I, don't really want to but, maybe I should.
Remember when I seen you at the socials dance
You were shaking your wool skirt, with both of your hands.
My head was out of hand, dripping with [?]
You walked right past me, and flashed me a glance
So I grabbed you by the hand, and asked you to dance.
This shit was perfect, we were made for each other.
So I took you to the Lookout and made you my lover.
And I didn't wear a rubber, 'cause I knew you were clean.
At least I thought you were, but you ruined my dream.
Girlie.

It's been a long time
And I know that you lust for me
It's been a long time
And did you ever love me?
It's been a long time
And I know that you miss me
It's been a long time
Damn Girlie, I know you want to kiss me.

Me and Preston, we were cruisin' the boulevard.
Roll in my T-bird, you know it's the coolest car.
I rolled up to the diner just to grab me a shake.
And guess who I saw girl, you were laughing away.
I told Preston to Check it, look at that table.
You see that girlie on the left, that looks like an angel?
Well that's my girl, but I probably should tell her.
So I walk up to the table, and drop A Capella.
Everybody started laughing like a crack at a joke.
So I reached across the table; put your man in a choke.
And you seemed to be angry when you told me to stop.
Then the man behind the counter said I'm calling the cops.
And that was it girlie.
