

Oh the Places You'll Go

I Fight Dragons

What can I tell you of the world
When I know I've still got so much to learn?
How will I keep you safe? How will you find your place?
What can I tell you of the world?

I want you to have it all
Want you to trust yourself and fear no fall
Want you to turn out to be so much better than me
I want you to have it all

Oh the places you'll go, with your eyes so wide
With your heart in your hand, and your sword at your side
Oh the mountains you'll move, oh the tears you'll cry
Oh the places you'll go, little love of mine

No I can't promise you'll be safe
I can't promise you won't lose your way
But I promise you now, you'll get through it somehow
And you'll laugh about today

And I can offer you this song
For you to listen to when things go wrong
And then maybe you'll know how I love you so

And find a way to stay strong

Oh the places you'll go, with your eyes so wide
With your heart in your hand, and your sword at your side
Oh the mountains you'll move, oh the tears you'll cry
Oh the places you'll go, little love of mine

Oh the places you'll go, little love of mine
(Little love of mine)

Oh the places you'll go, with your eyes so wide
With your heart in your hand, and your sword at your side
Oh the mountains you'll move, oh the tears you'll cry
Oh the places you'll go, little love of mine

Oh the places you'll go, with your eyes so wide
With your heart in your hand, and your sword at your side
Oh the mountains you'll move, oh the tears you'll cry
Oh the places you'll go, little love of mine