

Doomed

I Prevail

I put one foot in front of the other
Another step closer to the ledge
Will I make it I wonder
And now I'm free fallin', gravity's calling
And I can't turn back now
I put one foot in front of the other

And lately I've been going my own way
I guess these old habits die hard
And lately I've been missing my old ways
Guess I'm headed for a permanent scar
And maybe I've been thinking bout crashing
While I'm waiting on the last train home
Maybe it's the quiet things that always hurt the most

Cause I can't change who I am
But maybe I could try to understand
There is peace inside the panic
Are heroes always tragic in the end
Or are they only voices in our heads
The more they talk the more I think some things are better left unsaid
Here today and gone tomorrow like we're
Doomed
Like we're doomed

The more you look the less you're gonna see
Before you know it's gone too soon
So take my hand, it's all that I have
We can sit and watch the colors bloom
Everybody prays when their time is borrowed
But never for the time they've got
Yeah and everybody sings like there's no tomorrow
Until the music stops

And lately I've been going my own way
I guess these old habits die hard
And lately I've been missing my old ways
Guess I'm headed for a permanent scar
And maybe I've been thinking bout crashing
While I'm waiting on the last train home
Maybe it's the quiet things that always hurt the most

Cause I can't change who I am
But maybe I could try to understand
There is peace inside the panic
Are heroes always tragic in the end
Or are they only voices in our heads
The more they talk the more I think some things are better left unsaid
Here today and gone tomorrow like we're

Doomed
The more you look the less you're going to see
Before you know it's gone too soon
(Like we're doomed)
So take my hand, it's all that I have we can sit and watch the colors bloom
(Doomed)
Everybody prays when their time is borrowed

But never for the time they've got
Yeah and everybody sings like there's no tomorrow
Until the music stops
