

The Dream and the Dreamer

Ian Brown

Earth is gold, the sea is green
The dream belongs to the dreamer
Starlit night, moonlight bright
The dream belongs to the dreamer

Earth is gold, the sea is green
The dream belongs to the dreamer
Live or die, laugh or cry
The dream belongs to the dreamer

Hit for six, knocked for ten
Straighten out and live again
It's all a fix, it's all pretend
A maze is made, and made to have no end

It's all a fix, it's all pretend
Government is not your friend
Earth is gold, the sea is green
The dream belongs to the dreamer

I'm letting the music be the healer
The dream belongs to the dreamer

Black hat puppeteers
Perpetrating the big fat lie
Hidden in the shadows
Orchestratin' lies

What's normal for the spider
Is chaos for the fly
Death for caterpillar
Birth for the butterfly

All the music makers
All the dreamers of dreams
Livin' in a world
That isn't what it seems

Earth is gold, the sea is green
The dream belongs to the dreamer
Live or die, laugh or cry
The dream belongs to the dreamer

I'm letting the music be the healer
Let the music be the healer
The dream belongs to the dreamer
