

Might Be Everything

Ian Munsick

A little tailgate roadside produce stand
His hat said he was a vet in Vietnam
Tomatoes look good, business looks slow
We ended up talking for an hour or so

I got half a sack, but he wouldn't take a dime
He said, I made his day
But the truth is, he made mine

It might be just a couple of bucks
It might be an old rusty truck
It might be a spin a little while
Or "how you doing" smile, it don't mean much
It might be a two bedroom shack
It might be an own pawnshop ring
It might not be anything
But it might be everything

Well, I met a pretty girl that I like a lot
Gonna try and give her all I got
Called to let her know I was on my way
Stopped and picked a little white flower bouquet

No, she don't care if the money's real tight
Long as she wants to go
Then I'm gonna take her out tonight

It might be just a couple of bucks
It might be an old rusty truck
It might be a first date front porch kiss on the lips
It don't mean much
It might be a two bedroom shack
It might be an own pawnshop ring
It might not be anything
But it might be everything

Ooh...
Every story has a story
Every ending starts somewhere

It might be just a couple of bucks
It might be an old rusty truck
It might be a first date front porch kiss on the lips
It don't mean much
It might be a two bedroom shack
It might be an own pawnshop ring
It might not be anything, but it might be everything
It might not be anything, but it might be everything

Ooh...
