

Need You

Icona Pop

Physical, not personal, I just want your attention
Like all those other times we came out looking for redemption
I need you
To focus now, hold on tight, kill the lights
I need you
I need you in attention

You talk me out of talking 'bout feelings
The door's right there so why aren't you leaving?
A fucked up love, so stuck on repeating
You say you don't but I don't believe it

I need you, baby
And I think you need me more than you know
I need you, baby
And I think you need me more than you know
And I think you need me more than you know

I can't fix your broken heart but I can make it better
We can take our broken parts and patch 'em up together
We heal until we're better
Oh yeah, we heal until we get there

You talk me out of talking 'bout feelings
The door's right there so why aren't you leaving?
A fucked up love, so stuck on repeating
You say you don't but I don't believe it

I need you, baby
And I think you need me more than you know
I need you, baby
And I think you need me more than you know
And I think you need me more than you know