Well we've been running Trying to get away From the sigh of times When you've grown up on silent shores There's so many people that you ignore Grasping outwards Trying to reach our goals We're so far away Grasping in vein Hoping for a change We're so far away Well we've been searching For some sort of truth To make sense of all the lies No we're not that naive Because we've made We've made our own objections Grasping outwards Trying to grab out goals We're so far away Grasping in vein Hoping for a change We're so far away We know We are important We know We're not just kids We know We're far away from home We know We're out of time We're so far away We're so far away
