

Throw Them from the Cliff

Ignitor

The kingdom lies in ruins
As the church bell sings for death
Spirits swirling about their tombs
Like a desolate queen's last breath

The royal army has been defeated
There is none left to command
The generals rule deleted
By sorcery throughout this land

In a moment frozen forever
One second to midnight
What hell the fates have chosen
As the fires ignite

The crown is lost
Taken over by evil
Throw them from the cliff
Into a barren waste
Throw them from the cliff
Destroyed by greed and haste

Bewitching curse of power
A hunger fed only by pain
Dar lords control and devour
Your court and your king is now slain

What started with hope and desire
Was destined to rot from within
As the bodies were piling higher
We tallied the wages of sin

The crown is lost
Taken over by evil
Throw them from the cliff
Into a barren waste
Throw them from the cliff
Destroyed by greed and haste
Throw them from the cliff
The rocks will have their way
Throw them from the cliff
You can't stop judgment day

Now the kingdom has fallen
Subjects left to their demise
A penny or paradise stolen
By phantoms of progress and lies

The land is black and wasted
All flora and fauna diseased
The next generation aborted
The world has been brought to its knees

In a moment frozen forever
As the fires ignite

The crown is lost
Consumed by evil
Into a barren waste
The rocks will have their way

You can't stop judgment day
