

Fragments

Illenium

I would have waited for you there
I already waited for forever
Carried the weight of all your bad habits

You can pretend that you don't care
I know you hate the way it happened
Whatever's left of what we had is scattered
In fragments

In fragments
In fragments
In fragments

Your photographs aren't up on my wall anymore
Even though they're gone, I still remember it all
I can't help myself
I rewind and play it all out
I can't recall what my life was like before it

Going back and forth with me
Those words haunting me
Shoulda never started a war
You act accordingly
Made sure you left with it all

I would have waited for you there
I already waited for forever
Carried the weight of all your bad habits

You can pretend that you don't care
I know you hate the way it happened
Whatever's left of what we had is scattered
In fragments

In fragments

Our world just stopped before we could figure it out
Left it all undone and now I'm wondering how

I'm ignoring this in my head
You got the best of me in the end
Now I'm wishing we'd never met
But I would do it over again

Going back and forth with me
Those words haunting me
Shoulda never started a war
You act accordingly
Made sure you left with it all

I would have waited for you there
I already waited for forever
Carried the weight of all your bad habits

You can pretend that you don't care
I know you hate the way it happened
Whatever's left of what we had is scattered

In fragments

In fragments

In fragments

In fragments