

Good Life

Illy

One more drink for the road
Tonight I'm burning fire
It ain't safe but it's warm
It ain't much but it's mine
It ain't heaven, it's home
Settle in for the night

Bottoms up 'cause
No one come to save you from the world
Or save you from yourself
Or place you back up where you fell from
There's nowhere to hide
It hurts but it's alright

Yeah
And it takes a toll
All our dreams were sold
For a piece of gold
But your soul remains
So take the blows one by one
But know when the credits roll
Did it your way

So hold your head high
Tomorrow's a new day
To throw it all away
But all the same
It's a good life
It's a good life
So keep your chin up
Any chance that I'll take
To leave you where you lay
But all the same
It's a good life
It's a good life

Yeah
And I feel like
That levy burstin' we wait much longer
All that love give me something stronger
Real feel foreign around imposters
Mama warned me don't play with monsters
Impossible odds against us
Can't distinguish your foe from friendship
Almighty dollar left us senseless
I'm out on the edge with a deathwish
I'm sick and tired of life by leverage
I'm sick and tired of life by metric
I'm sick and tired a high percentage
I'm sick I'm tired, I grin and bare it
Wind at my back down lonely roads
Don't feel at home within my home
I found my peace, I watched it go
But onwards we roam

But it takes a toll

For a piece of gold
So take the blows one by one

So hold your head high
It's a good life
It's a good life
So keep your chin up
To leave you where you lay
But all the same
It's a good life
It's a good life

Out of the ordinary
All to go unsung
And all held as hostages
Of what can't be undone
You can't stand behind it when you're in front of the gun

So hold your head high
Tomorrow's a new day
But all the same
It's a good life
It's a good life
So keep your chin up
To leave you where you lay
But all the same
It's a good life
It's a good life
So keep your chin up
