

Black & White Jingle #1

Imani Coppola

Sometimes life may feel like it's sucking you up
But it's not, it may be just you sucking
Sometimes life may feel just like you're losing the race
But you're not you're just letting everyone else win
Sometimes it feels like everyones being a dick
But there not it's just you being a dick to every one
Somedays it seems like nothing works right
But its fine you're probably just using it wrong
You wanna change the world you better start with yourself
Charity starts at home in the skin you're in
I'm not sayin you should go and change your face
But if it bothers you that much you should get a nose job
I'm talking about what lies beneath the black and white
There's a mass of gray
It is called your brain
Do the math or higher someone to do the books
But you're the one...gotta pay the taxes
All the colors in between birth and death
Are in your head so you should stop bleaching your teeth
So take a look at what you thought was black and white
And you will see that there was nothing there at all
