Enslaved

Imminence

Buried in my bones
Heart made out of stone
Wish that I could leave behind
The pain I felt so long
In the dead of night
I set it all on fire
Watch it burn to ashes
Hear the angels call my name

What if I could bleed
What if I could feel
Once again I find myself
In a world so unreal
What if I could heal
And separate what's real
Tell me how to save myself
From the misery in me

Something's burning on the inside
The fire is all I see
I have died a thousand times
A slave to my own mind

Arrows in the dark
Everything falls apart
Wish that I could undo all the Damage that I've done
Fear is taking hold
Leave my heart alone
I always seem to find myself
Caught in the unknown

What if I could bleed
What if I could feel
Once again I find myself
In a world so unreal
What if I could heal
And separate what's real
Tell me how to save myself
From the misery in me

Something's burning on the inside
The fire is all I see
I have died a thousand times
A slave to my own mind

Fear is taking hold
Leave my heart alone
What if I have come too far
To the point of no return

Something's burning on the inside
The fire is all I see
I have died a thousand times
A slave to my own mind