

Ingle & Sky

Imminence

What sets you aside
From everybody else?
We must be relentless
Silver tongue and golden ears
Will get you far
In time of need

Bite down, bite hard
We must be relentless
Silver tongue and golden ears
Could spare your life
When words are heat

Wings strapped for burdens on your shoulders
You'll never be
Amongst the celestials

We bathe in flames tonight
For we will shine more than the skies
As we burn out our load

The light of the stars are too late
Never will they fill the night sky

And show us the way
When the sun has set
You'll never be sky high
So look down, they have befallen

We bathe in flames tonight
For we will shine more than the skies
As we burn out our load

We bathe in flames tonight
For we will shine more than the skies
As we burn out our load

Keep the fervor close to you
Let it give you strength
To fly up into the clouds
And when the rain comes
For it will come
Let it fill you up

Let it run right through you

Don't give in
Don't give in
Don't give in

There is no undoing
There is no undoing
Purge yourself, refine yourself
