

Moth to a Flame

Imminence

Consumed by the thoughts that won't leave me alone
I'm numb from the pain that lies deep in my bones
Haunted by ghosts of things left unsaid
But I'm doomed if I let this go to my head

I've built these walls with sticks and stones
Brick by brick I've become the unknown
The fear in my heart is mine to endure
But I'm starting to doubt ever finding a cure

This is a call to arms
This is a war against the silence
Walking through the fire
And rising from the ashes

It hurts to lose control
Incinerate the darkness in my soul
Like a moth drawn to a flame
I'm gonna watch it burn

Burn

Drawn to the flames like a bird to a prey
Searching for words but got nothing to say
The echo still haunts me from all my regrets
But I'm doomed if I let this go to my head

This is a call to arms
This is a war against the silence
Walking through the fire
And rising from the ashes

It hurts to lose control
Incinerate the darkness in my soul
Like a moth drawn to a flame
I'm gonna watch it burn

Incinerate the darkness in my soul
Like a moth drawn to a flame
I'm gonna watch it burn

This is a call to arms
This is a war against the silence
Walking through the fire
And rising from the ashes

This is a call to arms
This is a war against the silence
This is a call to arms
This is a war against the silence

It hurts to lose control
Incinerate the darkness in my soul
Like a moth drawn to a flame
I'm gonna watch it burn

I'm gonna watch it burn

I'm gonna watch it burn
