

Dragged Through The Inferno

Immortal Disfigurement

So quiet
But yet so fucking loud in the fire
Blinded by the dark cloud, a tormented shell
I know what it's like to get dragged on the lowest floor of hell

Ohh!

Helplessness imprisonment
Abandoned, left for dead
Agony ingested
Misery sent

I met true torture and ripped out its throat
I peeled off its skin and stitched a new host
I swam in fear until I soaked up the sea
And purged off my lifeless dwelling, sorrowful hopelessness, my torment, and misery

I've seen the darkest corners of hell
I've danced with the Devil and almost fell
I've felt death's grip, and fuck, is it tight
I nearly begged to see the light

The coldest that I've ever felt
Was crawling through hell and screaming for help
Ohh!
How the fuck did this world get so cold?
You all make me sick

Scraped skin from the wretched floor
Dragged from the hooks in my back where the knives were before
A life of purpose bound to cruelty
Mark my words, that was not the end of me
Ohh! Internal hatred, eternal reign

I've seen the darkest corners of hell
I've danced with the Devil and almost fell
I've felt death's grip, and fuck, is it tight
I nearly begged to see the light

The coldest that I've ever felt
Was crawling through hell and screaming for help

Never again, never the same
Internal hatred, eternal reign

So quiet
But yet so fucking loud in the fire
I've been dragged through hell, but it's such a familiar place
This is my rebirth, this is my reign

How the fuck did this world get so cold?
Humanity is bound to get dragged through the inferno, oh!

When will they realize I'll always reign?
The immortal question
When will you learn your fucking lesson?

Surrounded by serpents
Spineless embarrassments, you should all be ashamed
You foolish cowards, feel my pain
Remember this, you bastards, I will forever reign
Ohh!